

Judge and Mrs. Jonathan C. Royle are planning to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary April 23, with a gathering of their old-time friends for that evening. For more than thirty of the fifty years of their married life they have been in this city, and the friends whom they will ask to celebrate the event with them are those alone who have known them from the first. The golden wishes for the event have already begun to come in to the dearest loved people whose names have been synonyms for all that was best in this community since first they came here.

"And everybody wondered what she'd do," was the way they put it after she received the great bunch of American Beauties with the yards and yards of "yellow ribbon" wound around them. But, of course, only a few understood the real significance. The rest were "fur, fur away."

There's consternation in the High school these days. Not only is it a decided matter now that at least five of the corps, feelingly keenly the statements that have been made as to their various states of single blessedness, have decided to change to the double state. This would not cause such keen anxiety, but the fact that one has laid a wager that he, too, will follow suit within the year has caused much heart sorrow in certain regions—where his attentions have not fallen.

The old-time rivalry against May weddings is gradually dying out, and it is whispered that at least one of the most interesting of the season will take place in that presumably unlucky time. Two others are set for the month of roses and a certain date good has been outlined in red—but, good gracious! no one is allowed to set eyes on it as yet.

A series of pleasant events of the season will be the studio recitals to be given by M. J. Brines Thursdays during the month of May. They will be devoted more or less to the study of American composers and to Schumann and Schubert, in whose music Mr. Brines is especially interested.

The Country club is at its best these days, and while no formal opening has been held yet, the club is installed and all the needfuls for a quiet afternoon.

CURRENT EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY

Women's Clubs.

The new number of the Federation Bulletin contains on its front page a request from the general federation president, Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker of Denver, that she may receive a postal card from each and every club woman during the month of April, which month she meant to spend at her home in Denver. Just following the announcement of this comes the news of her breakdown in health, and of her being ordered to complete rest by her physicians. Doubtless the postal card will be as warmly received when she is again able to enjoy the personal greetings.

Mrs. Decker has done in the past six months what few women would have undertaken in the line of club work. She has visited every state federation from ocean to ocean, and in connection therewith many of the clubs in each federation. She has covered thousands of miles, many of them by stage, to extend a personal greeting to some small outlying club where her presence would be a help and an inspiration. She has made speeches at every point in her own happy characteristic way, and has kept up a heavy correspondence at the same time. She has organized hundreds of altruistic associations in connection with the clubs visited, and has lent substantial aid in the furthering of the child labor movements and the kindred agitations of the south and east. Incidentally, she has been as unpartisan and unprejudiced as a human being could be in her advice and her activities. The rest which all her friends hoped would rebuild her after the long hard work she has done was looked forward to with a great deal of joy.

The Cleofan has arranged for a unique affair to raise money for their contribution toward the manual training department at Canyon Crest ranch. They have secured Miss Lucy Van Cott, a graduate of Columbia domestic science school, to give a practical demonstration in cooking next Thursday evening for which they will sell a limited number of tickets. The class will be held in the cooking school at the Utah Coke company's store on Main street.

Mrs. W. I. Brown and Mrs. Beveridge entertained the Wasatch Literary club on Tuesday afternoon. A profitable as well as interesting program was given. The subject for the afternoon was "Women Philanthropists," and was in charge of Mrs. Hauxhurst, who gave a paper on "Higher Education for Women." This was followed by several short papers. "Frances Willard," Mrs. Herbert Hays; "The Red Cross Movement," Mrs. I. R. Parsons; "Social Reform," Mrs. Martin Stockman.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Athenaeum of Park City was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. R. Weeter, and besides taking up the regular work at this meeting, a subscription fund was raised for the boys at the Canyon Crest ranch. Mrs. Leconte will have the ladies at her home on Monday next, and the lesson will be chapter VII, "Country Life in Austria," which will be followed by a lesson review.

The Nineteenth Century club of Provo met in open session at the home of Mrs. J. J. Nunn Friday afternoon. A large number of ladies were present as guests of the club. The Rev. J. Challen Smith delivered an excellent address on "George Eliot and Her Works." The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. W. B. Searle; vice president, Mrs. J. W. Aird; recording secretary, Mrs. Helen Bonham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Marwick; treasurer, Mrs. George Haverkamp; executive committee, Mrs.

James J. Challen Smith, A. B. Smith and Lida Thornhill.

The Utah Sorosis met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Irvine, Jr. The Nineteenth Century club were guests of the Sorosis. An interesting lecture on "Bacteriology" was delivered by Dr. F. W. Taylor. A lunch was served.

The Ladies' Literary club will meet next Friday afternoon and Mrs. William C. Jennings will read a paper on "Vienna," written for the club by Mrs. J. C. E. King of Portland. Dr. E. W. Whitney will speak of "Medical Life in Vienna." The music will be furnished by Mrs. Emma Ramsey Morris, Miss Jennie Sands, Miss Mary Olive Gray and Miss Mattie Read.

The regular quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Orphans' Home and Day Nursery on State street will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home. After the business is over tea will be served.

The Woman's club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. L. S. Deane at 510 East Third South street. Mrs. Deane will speak on "The Child Without a Childhood," and Mrs. T. Allen will discuss the child labor question.

Mrs. H. A. King will entertain the members of the Woman's Republican club at 500 on Tuesday afternoon next at her home, 506 East Third South street.

The Woman's Democratic club will hold the regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Andrew Jacobson, at 174 K street.

The Woman's club will hold a rummage sale April 19 at Unity hall for the benefit of their fund for the Canyon Crest ranch manual training school.

The Browning section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet next Saturday with Miss A. E. Buchanan at the Kensington flats.

The Past Noble Grande club will meet at I. O. O. F. hall Thursday afternoon of this week.

Miss Marie Rogavsky entertained the W. T. C.'s at a theatre party, followed by a luncheon. Those present were the Misses Stella Hultberg, Frances Eke, Irene Young, Norah Zuk, Debra Hiley, Helen Bernhardt and Libbie Cushing.

The history section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet at the club house Thursday morning. Mrs. Bates will give the topic of the morning. The subject of the one-minute talk will be "Pythagoras and His Philosophy."
